vere sufficiently attractive to draw to Benning yesterday the largest crowd of the eason. It was the first day of the meeting that the sun poured its rays on the ourse, and, although it was uncomforta- 15 bly warm, it was an acceptable change from the disagreeable conditions that prevailed up to this time. Society folk, who have given little thought to the Benning races this fall, turned out in the largest numbers of the five days, and the clubouse porch was crowded with the fair sex, who keenly enjoyed the sport.

The fifth running of the Chevy Chase pen selling steeplechase, and the Fifth Vestal Stake for three-year-old fillies, were the fixtures of the card. Seven horses were named to start in the cross- Ind. country run of two miles and a half, but owing to a lack of gentlemen riders three horses had to be scratched. Dion Kerr rode his splendid mare, Follow On, which has raced over the obstacles thirty-six times, and has never got a spill. Courtland H. Smith again had the leg on Oleroso; Mr. Page was here to pilot his Mount Henry, and Mr. Nicholas came over from Baltimore to ride George Brown, jr.'s Miss R.

The splendid race between Follow On 15 and Oleroso last Saturday was sufficient to guarantee another fine battle between these two Virginia jumpers, and Mr. Kerr's mare was made the favorite. The distance was the same as when they met last week, and when Follow On outgamed and outrun Oleroso after all the jumps had been taken; but yesterday Follow On could not repeat. Mr. Smith again made the running with Oleroso, but it was a slow pace. Follow On and ward; Mount Henry stayed close to the leader Ind. while going the route through the infield. ### PENNSY DROPS HARVARD.

Two Colleges Will No Longer Meet in Athletic Competition.

Philadelphia, Nov. 21.—Pennsylvania has broken off all dual athletic relations with Harvard, as the result of the trouble last fall which ended in the two universities not meeting this year in football, Some Harvard authorities, it was reported, had stated that Pennsylvania was not fit to play football. In retaliation, Pennsylvania has decided not to meet the Crim-son in other branches of athletics, basket-ball, association football, swimming, baseball, relay races, and cricket, This action was taken at a meeting of he Pennsylvania athletic committee. Pennsylvania was already scheduled to meet Harvard in some of these sports, but the dates will be canceled.
